Red Arrow employees compete in 9th Annual Men Who Cook for Safe Harbor

The 9th Annual Men Who Cook for Safe Harbor Fundraiser was held on Saturday, February 16th at Blue Harbor Resort in Sheboygan. Over $200,000 was raised to support Safe Harbor whose mission is to provide crisis services and a safe shelter to those affected by domestic violence and sexual assault. Safe Harbor is located at 929 Niagara Ave., Sheboygan.

Two Red Arrow employees competed for the title of “Favorite Chef”. Keith Hiebing, territory manager-upper Midwest, and Jesse Salzwedel, plant controller.

“We’re making great food for a great organization. I look forward to it each year,” said Hiebing.

Hiebing prepared Fire Braised Pork Belly served on parsnip mash with a deep rich pork demi glace. He was sponsored by Red Arrow and assisted by fellow Red Arrow employee Chris Stein. This was Hiebing’s ninth year participating.

“This is personal to our family. We have been supporting this cause for decades and I’m glad I get to contribute,” said Salzwedel.

Salzwedel competed with a Caramelized Squash, Pear and Bleu Cheese Crostata. He was his own sponsor and this was his third year participating.

Twenty-two male chefs prepared dishes for a crowd of about 300 people. A live auction and entertainment rounded out the evening.

Safe Harbor provides 24-hour short term shelter, a 24-hour helpline and a 24-hour forensic advocacy and accompaniment. Supportive services include child advocacy center, therapy, legal advocacy, culturally specific services, support groups, community referral and program coordination.
